The Eighth Annual Meeting of the Nodaway Valley Fair a Great Success

Last Friday closed another successful Holt County, Missouri, was organized by meeting of the Nodaway Valley Fair As sociation, and the faces of the directors, which at the early part of the week which at the early part of the week gon post, Commander Wales of Mound looked rather blue, are now wreathed in City post, and John A. Ward of Craig smiles. The Fair has this year proved a success not only in matters of attraction and exhibition but also financially. Sev.

On motion, it was decided to hold an Old Soldiers' Reunion and Camp Fire eral years' experience has made the offigials more efficient and everything moved in harmony without a single jar, each looking after the interests of his department so carefully that everything was attended to in a prompt and business like way at the least possible expense to the Association. The rain of Wednesday proved a blessing in disguise, and the receipts at the ticket office on the two days following, amply made up for the day following, amply made up for the day
